From the Forest to the Front Porch: The Uwharrie Story

The story of Uwharrie began where all great outdoor stories do: in the rugged, rolling hills of the Uwharrie National Forest. Founded on a deep respect for the North Carolina landscape, Uwharrie Outdoor Living was born from a simple realization that outdoor furniture should be as resilient and timeless as the nature it sits in.

For decades, Uwharrie became a household name for those who valued "character" over "commodity." We didn't just build chairs; we built icons of coastal and cottage living. By hand-distressing our wood and embracing the natural imperfections of premium pine, we created pieces that didn't just survive the elements, they age gracefully within them.

A Shared Vision: The Armen Living Acquisition

In December 2025, Uwharrie reached a pivotal moment in its journey. We are thrilled to share that we have officially joined forces with Armen Living, a powerhouse in the furniture industry known for its forward-thinking design and commitment to lifestyle excellence.

This acquisition was born out of a shared passion for the "total home" experience. Armen Living recognized the authentic, artisanal soul of Uwharrie, and we recognized in them the resources and design vision to take our craftsmanship to a global stage. Together, we are blending the timeless, rustic charm of the Carolinas with the sophisticated, contemporary flair that Armen Living is celebrated for.

The Art of the Bench-Made Build

At Uwharrie Outdoor Living, we believe that true quality isn't born on a mass-production assembly line—it is crafted by hand, one piece at a time. That is why every single item in our collection is proudly bench-made by skilled artisans right in our North Carolina factory.

We honor the rich heritage of American furniture making by taking our time, paying attention to the finest details, and ensuring that every cut, joint, and finish meets our rigorous standards. To support our local communities and guarantee the highest grade of quality, we insist on using strictly domestically sourced materials. When you bring Uwharrie furniture into your outdoor space, you aren't just getting a place to sit—you are investing in authentic American craftsmanship designed to be the backdrop for your family's favorite memories.

Uncompromising Materials

Mother Nature can be relentless, so we build our furniture to be entirely resilient. We offer our bench-made designs in two exceptional, domestically sourced materials to suit your lifestyle:

Solid Pressure-Treated Pine: For those who appreciate tradition, the natural wood aesthetic that ages beautifully outdoors.

Premium Polymer: For heavy-duty, maintenance-free longevity that resists fading, moisture, and wear year after year.

Because a piece of furniture is only as strong as what holds it together, every joint is secured using 100% Stainless Steel hardware.

We proudly stand behind our craftsmanship and materials with a Limited Lifetime Warranty. Unwind with absolute peace of mind, knowing your outdoor living space is built for generations.

The Original

The Wave

The Original is where Uwharrie comfort began—an Adirondack silhouette refined into a deep, easy exhale. The Wave carries that same comfort-contoured seat, then softens the scene with a wave-style back that feels like ocean air on a quiet porch. Fanback turns tradition into a statement: clean lines, a classic fan-shaped back, and the kind of support that invites one more story, one more sunset. Crafted to weather beautifully, they bring charm to decks, balconies, and gardens. Three looks, one promise—enduring craftsmanship and outdoor moments made to last.
